G#m E B F#

VERSE 1

G#m F# B/D# E
For You gave life to all the earth, You gave us power through Your Word,
B F#
So we will shine for Your name.
G#m F# B/D# E
You sent Your Son to give us life, and through the cross we are alive,
B F#
So we will shine for Your name.

PRE-CHORUS

C#m E G#m F#
May the world rejoice in Your freedom and seek new life through You.

CHORUS

B F# G#m E
May Your name be known all across the land, may our voices break the silence.
B F# G#m E
As Your people shout, may Your truth be heard, as Your light shines in the darkness.

(to intro, verse 2)

VERSE 2

You took our sin and made us new, we are redeemed, we live for You,
And we will shine for Your name.
So may this joy be known to all, and may the world know of Your love,
That they may shine for Your name.

(to pre-chorus, chorus, instrumental)

THAT I MAY FOLLOW YOU

JOSH BINGTAN (2010)

INTRO

CHORUS

I rejoice in Your Word, Lord, let Your spirit lead me.
Lead me into righteousness, that I may follow You, that I may follow You.

(to intro 16 bars)

VERSE 1

I live, seeking Your compassion, though I fall, You never leave.
Your Word brings light to all uncertainty, by faith, I follow You.
There's no other name in which I place my faith, my trust, my life.

CHORUS 2

I rejoice in Your word, Lord, let Your spirit lead me.
Lead me into righteousness, that I may follow You.
I rejoice in Your word, Lord, let Your spirit lead me.
Lead me into righteousness, that I may follow You; that I may follow You.

VERSE 2

I seek Your righteousness and wisdom, that I may never stray.
Let me see the ways of Your perfection, for this life is all for You.
There's no other name in which I place my faith, my trust, my life.

(to chorus, to bridge)

BRIDGE

The wonders of the world declare Your glorious name.
You light the morning sky and bring the world to life.
So let Your glory fall and bring joy to the earth.
As Your people seek Your face and worship You forever.

This Is Faith — The Story

By Josh Bington

“This Is Faith” actually came from three of four songs that I drafted but eventually came together as one song. On one of our first practice sessions as Zeal, we all sat down and just started writing down whatever was on our heart that we wanted to express and tried to make it into a song. I remember writing down a simple chorus that ended in something like, “in this we declare, this is faith.” Or something like that, hehe. I gave up on that song but the phrase “This is Faith” really stuck out to me, as it is a powerful declaration on what we, as Christians, stand for; a passionate phrase that describes the heart and zeal of the radical believer, never giving up, pressing on despite adversity, knowing by faith that the Lord is in control...

Later on, I came up with a chorus melody while eating a sandwich at a Vietnamese restaurant, “Oh, can You hear the voice of God that calls Your name...” a call to action, a call to step out in faith. I remembered repeating that line over and over again until I came home and found my notebook, so I wouldn’t forget. I eventually completed that chorus but didn’t know how to end the last line, “we come together, we’re Yours alone, all for Your glory...” and didn’t know how to end it.

A week later or so, I came back to the idea of “This is faith” and wrote the bridge “This is faith that can move the mountains...” and really liked how it went so I decided to write an entire song based on this idea of faith. But then I realized how to end the chorus I had earlier, with the words, “this is faith”, and decided to switch up the words of the last line because we had decided to name ourselves Zeal the week before: “we come together, with zeal and life, all in Jesus’ name, this is faith” I finished the verse and pre-chorus shortly after, writing about the rise of a new generation that would be a light amidst the darkness in this world, to be a blessing to those who have lost hope, searching for joy...The song was originally in the key of A, led by a male vocalist, but I decided to change it to D, led by a female vocal, sounds much brighter..

This song was really a blessing to write and it was a great feeling of accomplishment when it was completed. It was one of the last songs from “Break the Silence” to be finished. We recorded the song with a relaxed feel, but now its more fun to play the song with more power and drive and get loud.

Hope you guys like the song, and remember that it is faith in God that will pull us through.

Philippine Mission Trip blog excerpts:

From Joyce:

.....The first week of being in the Philippines, we traveled everyday up to Sac On, the church up in the mountains. And let me just say... that I loved traveling up and down that mountain. Even though our travel was very crowded and it was long... I just loved it. The scenery of those mountains is just breath taking. The travel up and down those mountains just reminded me every time how wonderful and powerful our God is. AND I loved hanging my feet out of the back of the truck. So fun!! But anyways!! SAC ON!! We were able to fellowship with the youth there. It was really nice getting to know everyone, and it was really awesome to just see everyone smile, laugh, play, and gather in the name of our Lord. Even though there were 'nosebleed' moments, the Lord really allowed a common ground for all of us to communicate to each other and understand that we all have a common purpose, which is to serve God.

.....Something else we did with everyone was leadership building. I was really impressed with everyone who participated and stepped up with the planning of the Medical Mission, and the Concert. There was 200+ for both the medical mission, and concert. It was an awesome experience.

From Josh:

.....Let me start of by saying that this week was straight up CRAZY! Other than several planned events being moved/adjusted, much more events came up and we were traveling for hours everyday going from place to place for several events! But it was worth it all, it has been such a blessing to see all the people from many different places we have been connect with our God!

.....On the first day of this trip, I already knew this one would be different from the other PI trips I've been on. Anxieties and emotions were in the air, along with a sense of urgency and anticipation. Travel times had to be timed perfectly, transportation had to be coordinated precisely, and everyone needed to be a step ahead of what's going on. During the trip I feel like I have encountered my greatest joys along with my hardest struggles. I felt tested like never before feel a strong sense of accomplishment in every struggle. Our team accomplished a lot of the Lord's work this week, and it was only through His help, we had to trust in Him in order to see the things that happened.....

.....And the worship night at the Naga Christmas Camp with all the CYFs seemed like the ultimate grand finale to our mission week, youth from all over Cebu, united in worship to God...almost brought me to tears, I really wish we could have been able to connect more with you guys, and I will also be praying for CYF and especially the officers, that God would help you to lead the group into doing amazing things for the kingdom of God.
